The highlight of the evening includes the presentation of the Delores Barr Weaver Elder Advocate Award. This award is given to individuals who have a gracious spirit in giving back to seniors in the community. These individuals often lead by example and inspire others to give back as well.

We are pleased to announce the honorees who will be recognized this year: Judge Gary Flower, Senator Audrey Gibson and Eileen Rodden, Community Education Director at the Women's Center Jacksonville.

All three have worked together for two to three years to get legislation passed that would create the Elder Abuse Fatality Review Teams. These teams would be made up of various organizations including the Area Agency on Aging, Department of Children and Families, various arms of law enforcement, and a myriad of advocates. The purpose of the Elder Abuse Fatality Review Teams are not to investigate fatalities resulting from elder abuse, but rather to look at the system and where it may have failed and make recommendations where improvements could be made in an effort to prevent future fatalities.

We truly appreciate their effort and hard work to help seniors.
